

Handling Feedback Without Blowing Up

Social / Job Readiness • realistic correction scenarios

FOR STAFF • 30-MINUTE SESSION

Purpose: Practice receiving correction, separating tone from information, and choosing a response.

Materials: This packet.

Easy flow: 5 min define feedback • 15 min scenarios • 5 min response practice • 5 min reflection.

What Happened vs. What I Heard

WHAT WAS SAID: Supervisor: “These shelves need to be redone. The labels face forward.”

POSSIBLE THOUGHT: They think I'm stupid.

A calmer interpretation:

WHAT WAS SAID: Teacher: “You missed two steps. Check the directions again.”

POSSIBLE THOUGHT: They're picking on me.

A calmer interpretation:

WHAT WAS SAID: Coworker: “You left this area messy.”

POSSIBLE THOUGHT: They're trying to boss me around.

A calmer interpretation:

Choose Your Response

You are corrected in front of others.

- ☐ Argue immediately
- ☐ Say 'okay' and ask what needs fixed
- ☐ Walk away without speaking
- ☐ Ask to talk privately
- ☐ Explain calmly after listening

Best choice and why: _____

You disagree with the feedback.

- ☐ Argue immediately
- ☐ Say 'okay' and ask what needs fixed
- ☐ Walk away without speaking
- ☐ Ask to talk privately
- ☐ Explain calmly after listening

Best choice and why: _____

The supervisor's tone feels rude.

- ☐ Argue immediately
- ☐ Say 'okay' and ask what needs fixed
- ☐ Walk away without speaking
- ☐ Ask to talk privately
- ☐ Explain calmly after listening

Best choice and why: _____

You keep getting corrected for the same mistake.

- ☐ Argue immediately
- ☐ Say 'okay' and ask what needs fixed
- ☐ Walk away without speaking
- ☐ Ask to talk privately

☐ Explain calmly after listening

Best choice and why: _____

Wrap-Up • Get Them Talking

💬 Can feedback be useful even when the delivery is bad?

💬 What does 'professional' look like when you are irritated?

💬 What is one phrase you can use to buy yourself time before reacting?
