

Workplace Scenario Cards

Job Readiness Game • mature high-school situations

FOR STAFF • 30-MINUTE SESSION

Purpose: Practice judgment, communication, boundaries, and problem-solving at work.

Materials: Cut-apart cards + response sheet.

Easy flow: 5 min model one card • 15 min draw/discuss cards • 5 min rank responses • 5 min reflection.

Cut-Apart Scenario Cards

CLOCK ME IN? A coworker texts: "I'm running late. Clock me in so the boss doesn't know."	PUBLIC CORRECTION Your supervisor corrects your mistake in front of two coworkers.
NO RIDE Your ride cancels 35 minutes before your shift.	SNAPCHAT DRAMA A coworker posts a rude comment about you after work.
WRONG PAY Your paycheck seems $42 short.	NOT TRAINED You are told to use equipment you have never been trained to use.
ANGRY CUSTOMER A customer raises their voice and says you are useless.	PHONE WON'T STOP Your group chat keeps buzzing while you are working.
FRIEND VISITS Your friend comes to your workplace and wants you to hang out while you are on the clock.	BIG MISTAKE You realize you gave a customer the wrong order 10 minutes ago.
SCHEDULE CHANGE Your manager adds a Saturday shift after you already made plans.	INAPPROPRIATE JOKE A coworker makes a joke that makes you uncomfortable.

Student Response Sheet

Scenario 1

My first reaction: _____

Best professional response: _____

Who could help? _____

What could happen if I handled this badly? _____

Scenario 2

My first reaction: _____

Best professional response: _____

Who could help? _____

What could happen if I handled this badly? _____

Scenario 3

My first reaction: _____

Best professional response: _____

Who could help? _____

What could happen if I handled this badly? _____

Scenario 4

My first reaction: _____

Best professional response: _____

Who could help? _____

What could happen if I handled this badly? _____

Wrap-Up • Get Them Talking

☞ Which scenario had more than one reasonable response?

☞ Which situation would be hardest to stay calm in?

☞ What is the difference between standing up for yourself and being disrespectful?
